

FLAHERTY & CRUMRINE PREFERRED INCOME OPPORTUNITY FUND

Dear Shareholder:

During the third fiscal quarter of 2005, the Flaherty & Crumrine Preferred Income Opportunity Fund continued to deliver steady performance. For the three month period ended August 31, 2005, the Fund produced a total return on net asset value ("NAV") of 0.8%¹. During the first three quarters of fiscal 2005, the Fund's return on NAV has been 9.1%.

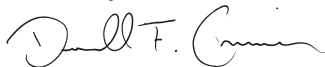

The Fund's interest rate hedging strategy normally works best when long-term interest rates are rising or falling. In periods of relatively stable long-term interest rates, such as we've experienced for several quarters now, the costs of implementing the strategy can drag down investment performance—much like paying on-going premiums on an insurance policy but never making a claim. Given the Fund's policy of maintaining a continuing interest-rate hedge on the portfolio, the Fund's NAV returns are respectable. And don't forget, the Fund still owns the "insurance policy"!

The country is still coming to grips with the impact of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita; our thoughts are very much with the victims of these terrible events. We are closely watching the effect on the Fund's investment portfolio, and, so far, we have seen no material impact. Insurance companies have become much more adept at managing the financial risk they face from hurricanes and other catastrophic events. While claims from the hurricanes certainly will adversely impact insurance industry earnings, we believe there is no threat to industry solvency. Utilities in the region should be able to recover most of the expense they will incur in returning to operation from their customers. (The New Orleans subsidiary of Entergy Corp. has filed for bankruptcy protection; however, the Fund does not own any securities issued by this company.) Changes in the banking industry have encouraged companies to expand across state lines, resulting in larger, healthier banks that are unlikely to be hurt by the hurricanes. Diversification across companies, industries and geography is an important element of the Fund's investment strategy, and helps to limit the impact of economic shocks, such as those delivered by Hurricanes Katrina and Rita.

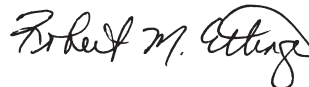

Recently, we have seen a pick-up in the supply of new preferred securities. Some were issued simply to take advantage of the low level of long-term interest rates and lock-in attractive financing costs. Other issues, however, have introduced new twists to the structure that are intended to help the issuer achieve specific financial objectives. Time will tell how broadly these new features get incorporated into the market, but for now, many of the recent new issues have fit nicely into the Fund's investment portfolio.

There is not much new to report regarding the outlook for the Fund's dividend rate. Several similar funds have recently reduced their dividends, but we don't think any change is warranted at present for Flaherty & Crumrine Preferred Income Opportunity Fund. We encourage you to take advantage of the Fund's website, www.preferredincome.com. It contains a wide range of useful and up-to-date information about the Fund, including the factors which impact the Fund's dividend policy. In addition, the website includes summaries of the Fund's investment objective, its hedging strategy, its use of leverage and the risks applicable to the Fund.

Sincerely,

Donald F. Crumrine
Chairman of the Board

DIVIDEND REINVESTMENT: BUILDING WEALTH ONE DIVIDEND AT A TIME

Flaherty & Crumrine Preferred Income Opportunity Fund offers a Dividend Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan, unglamorously nicknamed the “DRIP”, for those investors who desire a steady, reliable approach to building wealth.

Why invest in the DRIP?

- Disciplined monthly investing in both good and bad markets,
- When shares trade below the NAV, the Fund purchases shares in the market,
- When shares trade above the NAV, shares are issued at the higher of NAV or 95% of the market price. Participating shareholders get the benefit!
- $1,000 invested at inception, February 1992, with dividend reinvestment would be worth over $3,800 as of August 31, 2005 (10.48% annualized return).

To obtain information on the DRIP, contact your brokerage firm and ask if they are set up to participate. Information can also be found on the Fund’s website at www.preferredincome.com. Select the appropriate Fund and then select the link “Dividend Reinvestment Plan”. For investors who hold their shares in registered form, contact the DRIP’s agent, PFPC Inc., at 1-800-331-1710.

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Participation in the DRIP does not relieve the investor of any income tax associated with the distribution. For additional performance information please refer to the attached quarterly report.
